

Tharpa Choeling Monastery

February 26, 2010

A thank you letter from Kyabje Lama Zopa Rinpoche for generously supporting the re-building efforts of Domo Geshe Rinpoche's monastery in Kalimpong, Darjeeling, India.

My very dear wish-fulfilling jewels,

I want to thank you zillion billions for your sincere heart offerings to rebuild Domo Geshe especially for His Holiness the Dalai Lama to stay. The incarnation of the past yogi completed his studies and became a Geshe and returned to his monastery when mainland China took over Tibet. He was put into prison. Because he was from Sikkim, he was released. He brought trucks of philosophy texts for Sera Jhe monastery monks to learn in Buxa. That yogi passed away in America.

Rinpoche's labrang

But the Kamzen's elder monk Gelong-la, asked His Holiness the Dalai Lama whether the incarnation will be beneficial to sentient beings, please check. If not, don't check.

So His Holiness the Dalai Lama checked: He would definitely be beneficial to sentient beings. So His Holiness checked and found him in Bylakuppe, South India.

So this reincarnation's actions are like elderly Lama's qualities. Even though he was very small, when villagers came to see him, by blowing they would heal, a monk with painful knees got healed by his beating the knee.

I became a monk at Domo Geshe's monastery in Tibet. That great yogi founded this monastery and the German professor, author of "The Way of the White Clouds" Lama Govinda met Domo Geshe Rinpoche in Tibet.

So the very first western student, Princess Zina Rachevsky, she read this book, she went to look for Domo Geshe Rinpoche in Darjeeling but she met us at Domo Geshe Rinpoche's monastery in Darjeeling.

So I think it will be very beneficial to be able to hold the tradition. So therefore, I think your help to him will be very beneficial so in the future when His Holiness the Dalai Lama comes, you could visit.

With so much love, my prayers for your long life and to succeed according to the dharma,
