The centers of FPMT have been the cause of happiness for sentient beings for so many years. Many high lamas, including His Holiness the Dalai Lama, have been to our centers and planted the seeds of liberation and enlightenment amongst people young and old, bringing so many sentient beings closer to enlightenment so they can be free from the oceans of suffering. And the Dharma programs that have been developed are extremely beneficial, so important, and will become more and more important.

Of course, there are problems like personality clashes and conflicts, which are like earthquakes, wars of egos. But this is also normal because we are sentient beings and have mistaken minds. Therefore, we have mistaken view and therefore, we have mistaken actions. But still, overall the centers give unbelievable, unbelievable benefit. Of course, people may only think of the problems, only get caught up in the problems, only concentrate on the problems. Then they don’t recognize the benefits. Problems are a sign of samsara. Even tenth level bodhisattvas make mistakes because they haven’t completed the accumulation of merit, so of course our minds have delusions like the earth filled with rocks. Please understand this. We need to remember that we can get rid of the delusions, but doing so can take many lifetimes. It is good to think like this. But of course, if we apply ourselves well and follow correctly the path to enlightenment, then we can achieve enlightenment in this lifetime.

Of course, if there are mistakes, we should try to remove or prevent them, and to do that requires that everyone have a sincere good heart, have bodhichitta in the heart, to resolve all the difficulties. We shouldn’t have the mind of “us and them,” a big separation like that. We are the same family; we are vajra family that is closer than blood family. We have the same Guru. We have tantric vows so we shouldn’t criticize each other. Without anger and jealousy, with a sincere heart, we should help each other. Please try to do this as much as possible. It is everyone’s responsibility to resolve the issues.

The most important thing is to reduce our emotional problems and remember the basic qualities, like having kindness day and night, rejoicing all the time, practicing patience, having tolerance, trying always immediately to forgive others and take responsibility to apologize immediately. Then we need to have courage: courage to learn Dharma and practice and benefit sentient beings, to free them from suffering. We need to remember how our minds are basically pure, unstained by inherent existence, and have the potential for enlightenment. We need to always think about the purpose of our perfect human rebirth.

All our happiness now and in all the future lives depends on others. This is very important to remember. Then how in each second of our perfect human rebirth we can create incredible merit, keeping bodhichitta in our minds, thinking how precious each sentient being is, how each sentient being is like a wish-fulfilling gem. Please try to think like this.

I want to thank all of you, every single one of you, from my heart. I thank you all and I hope to see you all soon.

With much love and prayers,

Lama Zopa Rinpoche
Dear friends,

About forty years ago, Lama Yeshe and Lama Zopa Rinpoche arrived in Nepal with absolutely nothing. They connected strongly with young people from around the world who were traveling in search of some meaning in life. Lama Zopa Rinpoche strongly wished to teach and asked Lama Yeshe for permission to teach these newcomers the lam-rim. Lama gave the vajra instruction and so started the Kopan one month meditation courses. These experiential courses changed people’s lives. People went home to their own countries inspired, changed, and with the wish to share what they had found. Small groups of friends evolved into study groups and eventually into centers. Later, Lama said: “I didn’t have a plan. It just started with everyone helping.”

Around 1974, the lamas began receiving requests to teach from students in different places and began to travel extensively, spending six months of each year on the road. In 1984, Lama Yeshe passed away and Lama Zopa Rinpoche had the huge task of continuing to teach while also managing a blossoming network of international Dharma activities. Now Rinpoche was on the road continuously – 365 days a year, no breaks, non-stop, day and night. Now, forty years after it all began, we have 159 centers in thirty-nine countries. We have thirty-seven highly qualified resident Tibetan geshes and well over 100 qualified non-Tibetan teachers. When we think about what has been achieved by so many under the guidance of Lama and Rinpoche, it is well worth rejoicing!

On a few recent occasions, Rinpoche explained what he would like to see happen within FPMT – over many lifetimes to come! This list of projects and social services is known as Rinpoche’s Vast Visions. They include a great range of Dharma activities to benefit Buddhists and non-Buddhists alike.

We need a strong foundation to achieve success in these vast visions. Therefore, the FPMT Board and International Office have been putting together a five-year plan that we hope will strengthen and consolidate what we have achieved so far.

In 2010, Rinpoche lead and taught at the one-month Most Secret Hayagriva group retreat in Tushita Meditation Centre, above McLeod Ganj in India. Over 100 students attended the retreat and at the end met with His Holiness the Dalai Lama. Rinpoche said this deity is so important to FPMT and we should try to have the Most Secret Hayagriva retreat every two years.

After this, Rinpoche taught the commentary on Nyung Nay in Malaysia, continued the commentary on Lama Tsongkhapa Guru Yoga in Singapore and the commentary on Lama Chopa in Indonesia. Next, Rinpoche went to Nepal for the Guru Rinpoche Bum Tsog (100,000 tsogs for the cause of Tibet and the long life of His Holiness the Dalai Lama), then back to the USA to attend Geshe Sopa Rinpoche’s teachings, then on to North Carolina where Rinpoche continued giving the commentary on Lama Atisha’s Light of the Path. Rinpoche has committed to completing all the above teachings over the next several years. These commentaries complement the philosophical teachings the geshes give in our centers and will be very important teachings to study and practice. These teachings are being videoed and recorded and are available at our Online Learning Center.

In October, Rinpoche went to Mongolia to attend an important conference on the future of Mongolian Buddhism and the Nalanda tradition. Rinpoche stayed on after the conference for a month and traveled around the country teaching. In that time we were able to meet with government officials in three different areas of Mongolia and receive commitments from them for three large pieces of land for three large statues: in Ulaan Bataar a thirteen-story statue of Maitreya, in Darkhan (the second largest city in the north) a seven-story Lama Tsongkhapa statue and in Erdenzuu a twelve-story statue of Padmasambhava.

Then to everyone’s delight Osel attended both of our FPMT Inc. board meetings in 2010 in Portland, taking a lot of interest in FPMT.

International Office is doing well. More and more we are becoming the communications hub for the organization. Over the last year, we have nearly completed going off-site with our servers so that we will be better able to facilitate communications in many ways. We have a small but very motivated team in International Office who have been able to accomplish so much in 2010, serving Rinpoche and the organization.

I think all of us in this organization have a truly unique and unbelievably priceless opportunity – the opportunity to serve and help fulfill the holy wishes of Lama Yeshe and Lama Zopa Rinpoche, two holy beings totally dedicated to benefiting all living beings and not wasting a single second in this noble pursuit. This is who we serve. This is who we strive to be like; what more can we do to contribute to a more compassionate world? I cannot believe how fortunate we are to have this opportunity – it has to be rarer than the perfect human rebirth!

THANK YOU TO ALL WHO SUPPORT FPMT IN SO MANY WAYS – THE WISDOM AND COMPASSION THAT ELIMINATES SUFFERING AND BRINGS HAPPINESS!

FROM LAMA ZOPA RINPOCHE:

“Cultivate the thought that everyone you meet – in all circumstances – is fulfilling all your wishes. This is the door to true happiness.”

AND ALSO FROM LAMA ZOPA RINPOCHE:

“The sun of real happiness shines in your life only when you start to cherish others.”

FROM LAMA YESHE:

“Our problem is that inside us there’s a mind going: ‘Impossible, impossible, impossible. I can’t, I can’t, I can’t.’ We have to banish that mind from this solar system. Anything is possible; everything is possible. Sometimes you feel that your dreams are impossible, but they’re not. Human beings have great potential; they can do anything. The power of the mind is incredible, limitless.”

Thank you
Roger
This was another year of extraordinary developments throughout FPMT. This Annual Review is a chance for all of us to rejoice with a kind of humble pride and appreciate the myriad inspiring accomplishments of the Foundation. Even so, as Lama Zopa Rinpoche continuously demonstrates through his unflagging efforts and vast encompassing vision, there is always more to do, infinitely more to do, for the Foundation, the Board, and for each of us.

The Board had several meetings this year, including coming together from around the world twice to meet at the FPMT International Office in Portland. Several different parts of the Foundation, both long established and newly birthed, seem to have been reflecting on their roles and how best to fulfill them, including all of us on the Board and at International Office. Our meetings provided an opportune moment for us to step back and think purposefully about our responsibilities to fulfill our shared aspirations for the FPMT community, and what strategic changes might enable us to more effectively support them. We on the Board take great inspiration from being part of this FPMT community, whose members across the planet have been so dedicated, willing and eager to offer service.

An important theme of the Board’s meetings was developing a long range plan focused on our governance structure, as well as practices suited to the FPMT’s distinctive environment – all aimed at building a robust organization that will survive long into the future. Accordingly, we considered how to more effectively distribute responsibility for the management and support of our activities by creating more localized coordination. To support this enhanced regionalization, we also began contemplating the creation of a larger Council that would be more broadly representative of the Foundation – culturally, geographically and in terms of diversity of focus—whose insights and perspectives would help guide the Foundation’s executive leadership in its strategic decisions.

We envisioned a Council that would meet annually as a whole, and have a number of subcommittees to undertake substantive work between those meetings.

meetings. Our foremost challenge in this regard is to ensure that the relationship between the governing boards and the executive office is harmonious and complementary. If we can do that, this new regionalization will allow us to focus more effectively on matters of long-term strategic significance for the Foundation as a whole – and especially on the cultivation and enhancement of productive interplay among the FPMT’s distinctive parts.

In pursuing these changes, we aim to better serve the needs of the Foundation in all its constituent diversity. We also aim to keep the FPMT community better informed about the essence of our work, as well as learn from members about their experiences and hear their ideas and aspirations for the Foundation whose advancement and vitality is our common concern.

Amid all this, even as we look toward building and strengthening an enduring Foundation, we ourselves face the inescapable fact of impermanence in every arena of our own lives. Yet this only serves to underscore the urgency of the Dharma and the Foundation’s mission.

It is an awe-inspiring privilege to hold responsibility for the stewardship of an organization so extraordinary in its reach and its aspirations to help all sentient beings and to serve a spiritual leader so ceaseless in his ambition to be of ever-greater beneficial impact in the world.

We look forward to working with all of you to actualize our highest aspirations.

FPMT 2010:
EXPANDING SERVICE, STRENGTHENING THE FOUNDATION

Introduction

As we embark on a new year at FPMT International Office, we take time to rejoice in the past year’s accomplishments and to reflect on our future direction. 2010 was a year of expansion. As you will see in the coming pages, we have been fortunate to serve an ever growing group of sentient beings with an ever growing array of publications, study programs, support networks, websites and social media outlets. 2010 was also a year of strengthening our foundation, of creating meaningful ways to move our organization into the future with even greater structural clarity and depth. As a tree grows tall and wide, its roots extend further into the ground. Likewise, as FPMT International Office and the worldwide organization work to help fulfill the vast vision of our founder Lama Thubten Yeshe and our spiritual director Lama Zopa Rinpoche, we find the need to create a deeper, more stable base from which our service can reach even further. Thus, it is with great joy that all of us here at Lama Zopa Rinpoche’s International Office offer this review of the year 2010, with the single hope that we may continue to offer benefit throughout the world.

LAMA ZOPA RINPOCHE

Whether supporting young tulkus in the East or inspiring students from the West, whether making extensive offerings to ants in Washington or 100,000 tsog offerings to Guru Rinpoche in Nepal, whether contributing to the revival of Buddhism in an ancient land or nourishing its arrival in a new one, Lama Zopa Rinpoche continually finds new ways to benefit others with mindblowing compassion, increased service and deep wisdom. Here are just a few highlights of this year in the life of Lama Zopa Rinpoche.
• Rinpoche received nearly 4000 letters and answered as many as possible, giving advice to centers, projects, services, staff, and students all around the world.

• Lama Zopa Rinpoche started off the year in Bodh Gaya, India, with some personal retreat followed by a candlelight vigil organized by Tibetans for Compassion and Vegetarian Society. The vigil began at the Mahabodhi Temple and proceeded to the Great Stupa, where Rinpoche and Richard Gere both gave speeches.

• While in Bodh Gaya, Rinpoche met the four-year-old incarnation of his teacher Ribur Rinpoche and held an enthronement for the young tulku at Root Institute. Rinpoche also gave a magical teaching on emptiness at Rajagriha, the holy site at which the Buddha taught the Prajnaparamita Sutra.

• In February, Rinpoche continued with a second year of commentary on the Lama Tsongkhapa Guru Yoga at Amitabha Buddhist Centre in Singapore, and the second year of Lama Chöpa commentary at Potowa Center in Indonesia.

• March saw Rinpoche back in India to lead the Most Secret Hayagriva Retreat at Tushita Meditation Centre in Dharamsala. The retreat was followed by an audience for Rinpoche and the retreatants with His Holiness the Dalai Lama.

Osel Hita-Torres is the recognized reincarnation of FPMT’s founder, Lama Thubten Yeshe. In 2010, Osel attended both FPMT Inc. board meetings at International Office. When Lama Zopa Rinpoche arrived at the first board meeting Osel attended, Rinpoche commented:

“Lama being here is a great sign of the organization being more fruitful.”

During the May board meeting, Osel stressed the importance of gratitude and recommended: “It is really important for each center to make a display about its history that can be seen by everyone who visits the center. The display should include the names of the key people who have contributed to the development of the center at the beginning, and by being on the board.”

In May, Osel also attended and spoke at Big Love Day, a festival celebrating Lama Yeshe and the consecration of the new Lama Yeshe cremation stupa, at Vajrapani Institute in California, USA.
• In May and November, Rinpoche attended the FPMT Board of Directors meetings at FPMT International Office.

• Rinpoche then traveled to Malaysia and led a Chenrezig Retreat with 2000 people in attendance!

• Rinpoche continued from there to Nepal, where he spent five days leading the 100,000 Offerings to Guru Rinpoche puja with Dagri Rinpoche, Khadro-la and many Kopan monks and nuns at Bouddha Stupa.

• In September, Rinpoche returned to North Carolina and Kadampa Center, USA to lead the third annual Light of the Path Retreat.

• Then Rinpoche went to Mongolia to attend and give a speech at the First International Conference of Mongolian Buddhism. While in Mongolia, Rinpoche received the highest honor the Mongolian government can bestow upon a foreigner, the Polar Star, “in recognition of his contribution to preserving the great cultural heritage of Buddhism in Mongolia.” Rinpoche also taught in several monasteries and was given several parcels of land in different parts of Mongolia, on which Rinpoche plans to build large statues of Tsongkhapa, Guru Rinpoche and Maitreya.

• In November, Rinpoche returned to the annual November Course at Kopan Monastery, now in its fortieth year! Rinpoche finished the course a little early in classic Rinpoche style, with an all night Vajrasattva initiation, followed by a Red Tara initiation the next morning.

EDUCATION

Education and practice are at the core of our foundation at FPMT. We create high quality educational programs, translate texts and practices from the Tibetan and make them available in many languages, and offer essential training to staff and volunteers to strengthen their service to others.

2010 HIGHLIGHTS

ONLINE LEARNING CENTER
• We launched our newest program, Living in the Path, based on Lama Zopa Rinpoche’s Light of the Path teachings. We added five modules and all retreat material from 2009/2010, and included guidelines for participating centers. Don Handrick said, “In terms of producing a program of Rinpoche’s practice advice for people to use, I think that we’ve hit the nail on the head!”

• Seventeen modules of Meditation 101, Buddhism in a Nutshell, Heart Advice for Death and Dying, Discovering Buddhism and Basic Program were also added, including two in French.

• We provided the entire Light of the Path Retreat in five languages on the FPMT Media Center. Ven. Lindy Mailhot in Tasmania said this was “such an extraordinary opportunity - really so, so special. Endless heartfelt thanks to all that made it possible for those of us so far away to be so close.”

• At year end, the Online Learning Center had 4275 registered users and over 1000 discussion forum posts. During the 2010 Light of the Path Retreat, we received 12,170 hits from 4951 users in eighty-nine countries!
NEW PROGRAM MATERIAL
• We made Buddhism in a Nutshell and the Basic Program subject Engaging in the Bodhisattva Deeds, Part 2 available in homestudy format.

• We uploaded extensive Basic Program material web-updates in three languages.

• The first university-accredited Basic Program was established at Istituto Lama Tsong Khapa in Italy.

TRANSLATION
• We launched FPMT Translation Services to establish a glossary of standard terminology and precise guidelines for translation from Tibetan to English and collaborate with other language translation offices to achieve the same in the other languages of the FPMT community.

TRAINING
• We offered two successful and well-attended Foundation Trainings in Mexico and California. Maria Estela Eguia del Rio said: “I wish to invite all FPMT members to take this training at least once in their lives. It inspires us to contribute to the realization of the holy wishes of Lama Zopa Rinpoche and Lama Yeshe, thus promoting a great sense of family in our centers.”

PRACTICE MATERIALS

• We made twenty-six practice materials available in languages other than English.

FOUNDATION STORE
The Foundation Store is FPMT’s online shop, providing students the world over with FPMT’s education programs, prayers and practices, materials made for students and centers on the advice of Lama Zopa Rinpoche, materials for children and meditation supplies such as malas, incense, ritual items, thangkas, statues and much more. The Foundation Store seeks to support practitioners in their study and practice as economically as possible, wherever they reside in the world.

2010 HIGHLIGHTS
• We converted our website and e-commerce software in order to offer better, more efficient service to our community.

• Orders from outside the United States increased, as we now serve more of our friends in Australia, Canada, Great Britain, Malaysia, Singapore and Taiwan.

• We now offer more material in languages other than English! In 2010, we uploaded items in French, Spanish, Tibetan, Vietnamese, Chinese and German. We also modified our website to make these items easy to find.

• To overcome higher shipping costs and to better serve the new ecommunity, we started offering many of our prayers and practice books in eReader format. We offer a large selection of our audio products as MP3 downloads as well.

OUR DHARMA INCOME
The sole mission of the Foundation Store is to support the Buddhist practice of FPMT students and our friends around the world, not to make a profit. Proceeds from sales are carefully categorized and calculated to ensure that income from Dharma items is used only to make more Dharma available, as well as to further the charitable mission and projects of FPMT. We carefully follow the Buddhist principles for the use of Dharma income: any payments for salaries or personnel expenses are excluded when calculating the net Dharma proceeds from the Foundation Store.

FPMT’S CHARITABLE PROJECTS

Benefiting others is FPMT’s prime objective, the very reason for our existence. Our Charitable Projects strengthen our tradition at the very core by offering food, housing and resources to many of the great teachers, reincarnate lamas and scholars of our day. We’re helping build thousands of holy objects around the world, bringing much-needed eye surgery to underserved populations in Tibet, liberating animals, translating texts and supporting students in their studies. Here is just a taste of our charitable work in 2010:

2010 HIGHLIGHTS

• The Sera Je Food Fund provides three meals daily for all 2,600 monks living at Sera Je Monastery. The total cost to provide meals to all the monks is about US$280,000 per year. To date, the Sera Je Food Fund has provided over 15,000,000 meals. That’s 2,500,000 meals per year, 7,800 meals every day!

• After many years of planning and building, Amdo Eye Center opened in Xining (Eastern Tibet) and started providing high-quality cataract surgery and general eye care for the local people, as well as outreach eye care to the surrounding rural areas.

• In 2011, the Lama Tsongkhapa Teachers Fund offered over US$19,000 for the monthly stipends of main teachers of the Lama Tsongkhapa tradition, including the 136 most senior teachers of Sera, Ganden, Drepung, Gyume, Gyuto, Tashi Lhunpo and Rato monasteries. We also offered US$7,789 for the annual Gelug examination, which was attended by over 567 of the foremost scholars in the tradition.

• This year, the Stupa Fund offered donations towards three stupas at FPMT centers in the USA: $11,000 to the magnificent Kalachakra stupa at Kurukulla Center; Vajrapani Institute received $3000 to build the Lama Yeshe cremation stupa; and Land of Medicine Buddha received $26,000 to help their 100,000 Stupa Project!

• The Padmasambhava Project for Peace continues with the construction of a 70 foot (21 meter) statue of Padmasambhava in Asia, set to be completed in 2011. The statue will be housed within the pure land temple of Padmasambhava.

• According to Lama Zopa Rinpoche, one of the main causes to create the merit needed to build the 500-foot Maitreya Statue is writing the Prajnaparamita Sutra in pure gold. The Tibetan monk Ven. Tsering is now in his eighth year of full-time work on this precious project!

• Lama Zopa Rinpoche’s Other Projects continues to offer ongoing support of housing, food and other expenses to young tulkus, such as the reincarnation of Sengye Rinpoche, Ningre Tulku and Domo Rinpoche, as well as Khadro-la and many individual monks and nuns throughout the Himalayan region, Mongolia and the West. Rinpoche made offerings to Serkong Tsenshab Rinpoche for the building of his Labrang and to Zong Rinpoche to complete his geshe degree. Rinpoche also donated $100,000 to the International Mahayana Institute for the care of elderly Sangha.

COMMUNICATIONS

FPMT International Office is dedicated to bringing people the information they need to stay connected with Lama Zopa Rinpoche and the global FPMT community. The FPMT website provides Rinpoche’s schedule and advice, directs people to study programs and centers and much much more. Mandala Publications (print, eZine and www.mandalamagazine.org) reports on larger events with Rinpoche and gives an array of features that provide perspective and inspiration on living the path in daily life. The FPMT International Office e-News brings monthly updates on key news from Rinpoche, International Office and the organization as a whole, while the FPMT and CPMT e-groups give the community an easy way to communicate across the entire organization. Our Twitter, Facebook and YouTube accounts provide video clips of Lama Zopa Rinpoche’s daily life and keep students involved in all our activities.

2010 HIGHLIGHTS

FPMT WEBSITE
• We began upgrading the FPMT website to allow for increased security features and the ability to dynamically translate pages into eighteen different languages!

MANDALA PUBLICATIONS
For twenty-three years, Mandala has served as FPMT’s official publication, bringing topical articles, features and news to FPMT students and novice Buddhists around the world. 2010 brought plenty to rejoice about. Here are a few points in particular:
• Mandala closed off 2010 by finishing a seven-issue series devoted to the story of FPMT. These issues not only brought Dharma education to FPMT students, but also educated readers about the FPMT organization and its rich history and culture.
• Over 1,000 pages of content were offered through print, eZine and online formats. The digital eZine and website allowed Mandala to publish audio and video features not possible through the print publication alone.
• Average readership per print issue in 2010 was 13,000.
• We launched a new website for Mandala which allowed us to create five new blogs, including Ven. Roger Kunsang’s very popular Life on the Road with Lama Zopa Rinpoche. The new website also allows readers to leave comments and subscribe via RSS feed to all the site has to offer.

• Visits to Mandala’s website increased by 14.66% this year to 82,500 visits, and the average time readers spent on each page increased by 41.16%.

• An incredibly kind volunteer transcribed our major features and articles from over twenty of the earliest issues of Mandala. These are freely available on Mandala’s website and through Facebook.

“I realized today one of the reasons why Mandala is so great. Unlike some magazines, Mandala is for reading from cover to cover and even the ads have beautiful pictures of holy items, faces of Buddha – you want to read every page.”
SUSAN MACAULEY, TASMANIA, AUSTRALIA

“This is the first time I have received the eZine and I am blown away at both the quality and the software used. It’s beautiful and, call me a nerd, but I love the sound of the pages turning. Way cool. I am very impressed!”
TRENTON RAY, TEXAS, USA

FPMT INTERNATIONAL OFFICE e-NEWS

All issues of the FPMT International Office e-News are archived on the FPMT website and are fully searchable.

SOCIAL NETWORKING

• FPMT Facebook has 3742 friends from twenty countries!

• Lama Zopa Rinpoche Facebook page has 7311 friends from nineteen countries. These friends are very active and we receive many comments on every post we make.

• Mandala’s Facebook page provides regular links to past and current articles from the Mandala archive and now has 1,900 fans.

• FPMT Twitter has 272 followers and Lama Zopa Rinpoche Twitter has 771 followers.

• The FPMT YouTube channel has 423 subscribers. We have 91 uploaded videos and add to that regularly. Our most watched video is of Rinpoche leading a meditation on emptiness (while wearing a cowboy hat) in Washington State. That video now has over 11,000 views.

“Liberation Prison Project is deeply grateful to Lama Zopa Rinpoche and all who contribute to the International Merit Box. The Merit Box grant to LPP couldn’t have come at a better time. It made such a huge difference. It encouraged us to never give up, to maintain the vision of providing Dharma advice and resources to the men and women in prison throughout the world. Through the generosity of our FPMT family we have been able to maintain our services and to develop a model for LPP’s activities to be sustainable well into the future.”

– Ven. Chokyi, Liberation Prison Project

The primary purpose of Friends of FPMT, formerly known as FPMT Foundation Membership, is to connect and inspire the global FPMT community and preserve the FPMT lineage through providing individuals with the FPMT International Office e-News, Mandala Publications and the FPMT Online Learning Center.

The Friends of FPMT program offers a free level and discounts to ordained Sangha as well as Friends living in countries with low to medium level currency exchange rates.

• During 2010 we welcomed or continued to support 1755 Friends worldwide.

• Friends of FPMT raised $193,945 this year. This revenue is critical for supporting FPMT International Office’s efforts to provide support and services to the entire Foundation.

WORK A DAY FOR RINPOCHE

Work a Day for Rinpoche allows all those who are inspired by Rinpoche’s activities to spend one day in full support of his compassionate contributions to the world. On a merit increasing day of the Tibetan Buddhist calendar, students dedicate their work and a day’s salary (or more) to this project.

• In 2010, people from thirty-nine countries worked a day for Rinpoche on Saka Dawa, contributing $53,814 to this fund.
FISCAL YEAR 2010

The CFO and Director of Finance of FPMT International Office are responsible for managing and supervising the finances of FPMT Inc. as directed by its Board of Directors.1 Finances are divided between general (unrestricted) funds, and funds earmarked for certain projects (restricted) funds. Restricted funds are further divided into Charitable Projects and Fiscal Sponsorship2 funds and Restricted Designated3 funds.

The following charts give an overview of the income and disbursements for 2010.

1 FPMT Inc. is the legal entity of FPMT International Office. The terms FPMT Inc. and International Office are interchangeable. In practical terms, this is Lama Zopa Rinpoche’s office, therefore whenever FPMT Inc. or International Office is mentioned, the guidance of our Spiritual Director is implicit.

2 FPMT Charitable Projects and Fiscal Sponsorship Projects include all the Charitable Projects of the FPMT as well as Restricted Designated funds with Fiscal Sponsorship agreements in place. These are listed on our website as well as certain other charitable projects as directed by Lama Zopa Rinpoche and the Board of the Directors.

3 Restricted Designated funds are funds which are received on behalf of and held in trust for certain affiliates mainly based in India and Nepal. As such funds are under the control and direction of foreign affiliates, any donations originating in the U.S. for these funds do not attract U.S. tax relief.
Unrestricted funds have no donor-imposed restrictions, and therefore can be used to fulfill the varying needs of the organization. The following charts give a summary of FPMT’s unrestricted income and expenses in 2010. The primary sources of income for FPMT were fundraising, general donations, and revenue produced from Mandala magazine (including ‘Friends of FPMT’ program) and the Foundation Store. The primary expenses were the management costs of the International Office, where each department is responsible for helping carry out the charitable mission of FPMT and its projects. These departments include Education, Center Services, Development, The Foundation Store, Mandala, Information Services, and Administration.\(^4\)

THANK YOU!

International Office offers our deepest gratitude and appreciation to all FPMT centers, projects, services, teachers, students, volunteers and benefactors who supported us in 2010. Your kindness helps provide the tools and resources we need to preserve and transmit the unique and precious FPMT lineage for generations to come. The accomplishments listed in this year’s review are yours.

International Office would like to recognize and deeply thank our very kind volunteers who gave their time and enthusiasm in 2010: All of the Sangha at Rinpoche’s house, Ven. Paula Chichester, Ven. Losang Chonjor, Ven. Tenzin Namsel, Leah Chevalier, Jason Eng, Mark Evans, Ed Gibson, Dorje Greenberg, Noah Gunnell, Iona Iuga, Losang Dorje, Elaine Jackson, Denice Macy, Gwen McEwen, Moya Mendez, Mary Oberdorff, Sharon Overbey, Tiffany Patrella, Nadia Perssinotti, Victoria Rainone, Barbara Sakamoto, Marc Sakamoto, Guido Schwarze, Louise Sidnam, Valerie Thomas, Sherry Tillery, Tom Truty, Graham Ulmer, Kirsten van Gelder, Ven Joan Nicell and all the media team translators, transcript checkers, editors, and work retreat teachers at Light of the Path.

We’d like to also acknowledge staff members who left us in 2010. Thank you so much for your service and contribution: Doris Low, Dion Stepanski, and Sherri Rita.

Dedications at the pujas sponsored by Lama Zopa Rinpoche at the great monasteries throughout the year are made especially for purifying obstacles and creating merit for Dharma activity to flourish in FPMT as well as for all students, supporters, FPMT friends who are ill or have died, and for all those who have worked tirelessly and sacrificed so much to benefit the organization in different ways.
